The Three Swans Hotel

www.threeswans.co.uk

The Three Swans is a 3-star hotel, a 16th-century coaching inn, in the centre of Market Harborough and has two restaurants and comfortable, recently refurbished rooms with free Wi-Fi.

It dates back to as early as 1517, when it was known simply as 'Ye Signe of Swanne'. Many famous guests, such as King Charles I and Queen Anne have been welcomed through its doors.

The hotel is perfectly placed in the centre of the historic market town of Market Harborough and has its own large car park. There are easy links to local motorways and major road networks, and it is close to the town's railway station which has mainline services to London and the North.
